MARCH STUDIES

WHAT DID WE DO THIS MONTH?

BY EBRU ULUKUŞ

MARCH

In our project, where we aim to make students gain the habit of reading books, as well as the idea that books can be read anytime and anywhere; Activities and planning for March were determined at the meeting with the project teachers. At the later student meetings, the students exchanged ideas and the events and dates were conveyed.

WHAT DID WE DO THIS MONTH?

BY EBRU ULUKUŞ

MARCH

- The books, which were provided by the donations of our students, were made available to the students in the reading corner prepared in a part of the school.
- A Story completion activity was held where each student continued by adding a few sentences.
- The resulting story has been converted into a joint audio e-book.
- A painting exhibition was created from the pictures drawn by the students with the theme "Reading a book is flying to freedom".
- A My Favorite Book padlet was created where students and teachers shared their favorite book, the author of the book and why they liked that book.
- As part of the e-safety day, we created a board in our schools.

WHAT WE WILL DO?

APRIL

The activities we have planned for our project next month are as follows;

- I'm the Hero of the Book I'm Reading activity (In the school-wide event, each student will come to school dressed as the hero of a book they read)
- Partner schools promote and share libraries in their school or district with other partners.
- Orienteering Event
